We're Going on a Bear Hunt! (based on Machael Rosen's book)

We're going on a bear hunt. We're going to catch a big one.
What a beautiful day! We're not scared.
Uh-oh! Grass! Long wavy grass.
We can't go over it. We can't go under it. We can't go around it.
Oh no! We've got to go through it!
Swishy swashy! Swishy swashy! Swishy swashy!

What You Need to Make Homemade Gummy Candy

<https://thesoccermomblog.com/homemade-gummy-bears/>

- Your favorite flavor of Jello — Grab one 3oz box for each flavor you're making.
- Unflavored gelatin — You'll need two 0.25 oz packets for each box of Jello.
- Water
- Cornstarch (optional) — You can still make gummy bears if you don't have cornstarch on hand; we use it to dust the molds and then lightly coat the finished gummies to keep them from sticking as much.

Combine the Jello and gelatin in a saucepan with the water. Whisk together over medium-low heat until all the powder is dissolved.

Allow the liquid to cool enough to handle safely, but not enough to set. TIP: Use a dropper to fill the molds – to keep everything neat and clean.

After the molds are filled, allow them to cool for a bit before dusting the top with a light coating of cornstarch.

Place in the fridge to set – this should take about 15-20 minutes – then you can remove your gummy bears from the mold.

After the gummies are cool and set, toss them in a small bowl or bag with a couple Tablespoons of cornstarch until evenly coated. You don't have to use the cornstarch, but we find that it keeps them from sticking together and helps them to not melt as easily. To prevent melting, it's also important to store gummy bears in an airtight container in a cool place, away from sunlight. You can also keep them chilled in the fridge.
